THE CRESCENT'S BASEBALL

The annual meeting of the Riding and Driving tion of all the directors whose terms had expired These officials were E. Le Grand Beers, William N Dykman, W. V. Hester, George H. Prentiss, W. Edwin Thorp, R. B. Woodward and Park Commissioner Timothy L. Woodruff.

The formal opening of the Atlantic Yacht Club's house on the shore at Fifty-fifth-st., Bay Ridge, will take place on May 30, although the house has for membership will soon be acted upon, among the Frank L. Camp, steamer Victor Roy; William J. Goulding, schooner Priscilla; Maurice S. Wormser, steamer Spendthrift; William Beard, sloop Ventura; R. L. Farnham, schooner Vallant.

The Crescent Athletic Club's fourth annual base ment has not reached the intensity that always attends the close of a tournament, but the rivalry is keen, and lively games are anticipated. Several well-known college players are on the various teams, including representatives from Princeton,

Memorial Day will be a busy one for the athletes of the clubs in Brooklyn which are accustomed to interest themselves in out-of-door sports. One of tional holiday is the opening of the Knickerbocker Field Club's seventh annual spring handicap tennis classes, separated by odds; men's doubles, mixed doubles, and indies' singles, all handicap, will be doubles, and helies singles, all handleap, will be contested. Games will be played every Saturday afternoon until the close of the tournament. The Tennis Committee in charge of the games consists of C. C. Fowler, W. Moore, W. K. Holmes, J. B. Brochers and H. Wall.

Theodore F. Miller's dinner in honor of Colonel Willim Hester and Horace C. Du Val, in the Brooklyn Club, was one of the most successful entertainments of its kind given for many weeks. The arrangements for the dinner were perfect, and the floral decorations were particularly admired. The guests were George L. Foreman, George B. Fowler, A. M. Cahoone, Charles D. Burwell, William H. Buffum, Chauncey Marshall, George W. Chauncey, James H. Rose, George P. Merrill, Arthur Gibb, W. Van Anlen, Charles C. Worthinston and Arthur T. Sullivan.

A FLAGSTONE FOR M'KINLEY.

THE MEN WHO QUARRIED IT WILL VOTE

FOR HIM WHEN THE TIME COMES. the Eric Blue Stone Association, whose offices are at No. 280 Broadway, told his Republican friends pesterday of a mammoth flagging stone which his company shipped yesterday from Hancock, N. Y., on the Ontario & Western Railroad, to S. S. Kurtz, of Canton, Ohio, for use before the polls close in November, in front of Major McKinley's front stoop or in front of his house as a part of the sidewalk. The stone is an unusually handsome one, even for the upper Deaware Valley, where the quality is first-class. It measures 17x3 feet and is about eight inches thick. It will be shipped to Canton in its quarry-dressed condition, and as soon as it reaches the home of Major McKinley it will be run through the stone mill and receive a polish. It is said that all the quarrymen, about fifteen in number, who had a part in getting the stone from its bed, at a point near Walton, Delaware County, have cut their names on it, with a promise to vote for the Buckeye candidate when the time comes. Few branches of trade have suffered in the last three or four years as the bluestone quarrying business of the upper Delaware Valley. In 1892 the quarries were running with all the men that could be hired. The stone was used in beliding operations and for flagging all through Northern New-Jersey and in and about New-York. The quarrymen earned the largest wages in the history of the trade, and boasted that as their business was not a protected industry it made no difference how they voted on National issues. Free trade speakers told them they were being robbed by the tariff barons, and that the tariff was a tax. They voted almost solidly for Cieveland and the doing away of the protective tariff.

The bluestone output of 1893 was only half that of the year before, and hundreds of quarrymen who voted for Cleveland had an Idle summer in which to figure out how much they had gained by voting the Republicans out of power. The quarrying business has never revived from that day, and will not until there is a greater degree of National prosperity than exists to-day. Of the fifteen men who quarried the "McKinley stone," as it is now called, twelve voted for Cleveland. Mr. Underwood told a Tribune reporter yesterday that all the men have expressed their intention of voting for McKinley this fall.

THE LAWYER EARNED HIS FEE.

JUSTICE GAYNOR DECLARED THAT MR. RANDALL WAS ENTITLED TO THE $25.

Elizabeth Morey went into the Supreme Cour yesterday and, going up to the bench, where Justice Gaynor was sitting, asked him whether or not she could compel Mr. Randall, a lawyer, to give back to her 125 which she had given to him as a fee Mrs. Morey has been engaged in litigation for some years, and it has made her well known principally because of her persistency and excellent fighting because of her persistency and excellent fighting qualities. She owned considerable property in Coney Island, which has been sold under a judgment of foreclosure, and a few days ago a writ of assistance was issued to the Sheriff, directing him to put Arthur Van Stelen as receiver for Walliam Trist Badley in possession of the property. Mrs. Morey had refused to get out, and forebly repelled all attempts to eject her. The Sheriff has not been much more successful under the writ of assistance, and yesterday morning when Mrs. Morey appeared in the courtroom Justice Gaynor remarked.

"I expected something like this. Are you going to get out of these premises, Mrs. Morey?"

"I will if Your Honor directs me to," replied the woman.

"Well, I do direct you to, and if you do not im-

"I will if Your Honor directs me to," replied the woman.
"Well, I do direct you to, and if you do not immediately give them up you will be arrested."
Mrs. Morey said that she would leave the property, but she wanted to know whether she could not have the money she had given to Mr. Randall before he was allowed to leave the courtroom. She said that she had given it to him to appear for her, but that he had done nothing to earn it.

Justice Gaynor replied that Mr. Randall had easily earned his money, as he had appeared in court for Mrs. Morey and made a ferce fight to keep her property for her. She had better give up the property and say nothing, he said.

PAVERS TO RECEIVE EQUAL PAY.

City Works Commissioner Willis has entered into an agreement with the Kings County Board of Walking Delegates, whereby pavers are to be paid $4 a day and rammers $5 a day. It has been the practice hitherto to pay $3.50 to the pavers who had practice hitherto to pay $3.20 to the pavers who had all-the-year-round jobs, and $2.50 to the rammers who had the same sort of jobs; but the pavers and ammers taken on temporarily in the summer have always received $4 and $3. The complaint of the all-year-round men was that they did not, in fact, receive work all the year, but were frequently laid off in the winter. They said they would not object to this if they could receive the same pay as the temporary summer men, and this was agreed to.

THE WESTMEATH'S GREAT CARGO.

SAND TONS OF CORN TO THE KAFFIRS. One of the largest freight steamers that ever entered the port of New-York is now loading at meath, and she is an English steamer, built to carry grain, provisions and general merchandise This great freight steamer was built in 1805 at

Her length is 465 feet. She has 56 feet beam and 34 feet depth of hold. She has three triple-expansion engines, and when salling without a cargo she uses water ballast, and with this ballast has just come from Australia, and on her next trip will round the Cape of Good Hope. This boat was built allow her to carry an immense curgo. She has no regular route, but is simply an enormous "tramp" and she can carry 400,000 bushels of grain. She is now taking on a cargo of 250,000 bushels of white corn, which will be carried in bags of 200 pounds each. Besides this immense cargo of corn. the Westmeath is being loaded with general mer-chandise, consisting of canned meats and fruits, machines, and all sorts of things for the South African colonies.

With these colonies the American trade has increased tenfold in the last two years, and now the Westmeath is about to take the largest cargo ever shipped there from the United States. The members of the Produce Exchange are very much interested in this steamer, and Henry D. McCord, the president of the Exchange, is loading her. The vastness of her cargo may be realized when one considers that she will carry 11,80,000 pounds of carn, which required 10,000 acres of land to raise. This corn is sold to the Kaffirs, who grind it into meal in hand mortars. The Westmeath is only one of a number of steamers loaded recently with corn and wheat for the South African trade. She will lie at the pier at Atlantie-st, Brooklyn, all this week. Visitors are courteously treated by the officers, who are proud of the big steamer.

The reviewing stand was on the steps of the Bedford Avenue Baptist Church. Professor Albert C. Hale and the pastors of the Baptist churches of the city, and other well-known citizens formed the reviewing party. The signal corps received a large portion of the praise bestowed upon the boys. The uniforms of the members of the corps were trimmed with deep orange. The other companies wore uniforms with white stripes and trimmings. Brigadier-General William Kerby and his staff marched at the head of the column. At Bedford and Lafayette aves, General Kerby drew the boys up in line, giving them an opportunity to review the police parade, which had also formed at the fountain and started on its line of march over the same route. ford Avenue Baptist Church. HER UNCLE WANTS TO BE GUARDIAN.

Salle Quinn, a twelve-year-old girl, was brought into the Supreme Court, before Justice Gaynor, yesterday afternoon on a writ of habeas corpus sued out by her uncle, Daniel McKinney. The girl's parents died in July, 1832, and it is alleged that Julia Rintein took her and cared for her until April, 1855, when she was adopted by Mrs. Rintein's mother, Frances N. Stinson, of No. 373 Gold-st. Mr. McKnney wants the child now, and says that at the first of the adoption no notice was given to him, and have he did not waive his rights to be guardian of sechild. Mrs. Stinson refuses to give the girl up to the case was set down for Monday, when tesusof will be taken before Justice Gaynor.

MR. TULLY IS REJOICING.

BUT BOARD OF HEALTH OFFICIALS DO NOT SEEM TO BE EXCITED OVER HIS DISCOVERY.

T. De Quincy Tully, secretary of the Law Et forcement Society, spent a lively day yesterlay try-ing to get comfort out of his discovery that "Raines hotels" require lodging-nouse permits from the Tribune told yesterday morning that Sanitary Engineer H. W. Lock, of the Health Department, had agreed with Mr. Tully that Sections 163, 170 and 171 f the sanitary ordinances, requiring places letting furnished rooms for periods of less than a week's duration to have permits, applied to "Raines hotels In order to get a like interpretation from a higher authority in the Health Department, Mr. Tully called there yesterday morning. As Commissioner Emery was out he visited Albert R. Moore, counsel

"I asked Mr. Moore," said the secretary to Tribune reporter, "whether he would give me his opinion as to whether the so-called hotels over sacoons, in flats or lodging-houses, came under the provisions of these ordinances."

"I will not give an opinion, he replied. "A man who would do so in advance of a specific case sould be a consummate ass."
